GREAT THROG WITNESSES ANNUAL PARADE

The most impressive Memorial Day procession in the history of Connellsville in honor of those who have gone was witnessed this morning when a long line of men, representative of heroes of the Civil, Spanish-American and Philippine and the World wars marched to the cemeteries and paid tribute to their departed comrades.

The solemn parade of veterans, some of whom are veterans in service only, with the line of youth still present in their faces, formed at city hall at 8.30 o'clock and headed by the Connellsville Military band, went to the Chestnut Hill cemetery where flowers were placed on the graves and then to the Hill Grove cemetery where memorial ceremonies were conducted.

The parade left city hall at 9 o'clock and proceeded up West Crawford avenue, turning south into Pittsburg street. All along the streets were persons who silently watched Connellsville's gallant sons of many wars march or ride by. There was no cheering, the silence of the lips and the light in the eyes of those reviewing the procession speaking more than could be expressed by wild shouts.

When the line turned into Baldwin avenue to the Chestnut Hill cemetery, a halt was made while hundreds of Connellsville school children, lined on both sides of the street from Pittsburg street to the Connellsville Steam laundry sang "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner." The children, many of whom were from the lower grades, dressed in their light clothing, waving flags and carrying flowers, presented an inspiring sight.

At the head of the parade marched Joel Strawn as color bearer, with John M. Martin and H. O. Walker as color guards. All three men are veterans of the Spanish-American war.

Next came the Connellsville Military band, playing the solemn strains of a funeral march. The band was followed by a line of World War veterans, marching two abreast. The majority of the men in line were members of the 110th Medical Detachment who just recently returned from France. Others were members of Company D, and still others belonged to various divisions. There were a few in line who had not seen overseas service but who spent several months training in camp. A sailor was one of those of the recent war in the parade.

The Spanish-American War, and Philippine Insurrection veterans followed. There was a goodly turnout of these men, followed by the members of the West Side Volunteer Fire Department and the Sons of Veterans.

Next came a detail of Boy Scouts, followed by a long line of carriages, filled with veterans of the Civil War and members of the Ladies Circle, G. A. R. The carriages were draped on either side by a line of Boy Scouts who stood ready to assist the veterans in any way at all times. The rear of the parade was brought up by additional scouts.

The procession entered Chestnut Hill cemetery, where the first services were held. Rev. J. S. Showers led in prayer and Rev. G. L. C. Richardson read President Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. Captain E. Dunn, officer of the day, made a short speech after which three rounds were fired by the firing squad, composed of veterans of the Spanish-American war, and taps were played by a veteran of the Civil war.

They then marched to the Hill Grove cemetery where more extensive exercises were held. Mrs. Maddock, a member of the Ladies Circle, read a poem, immortalizing the veterans of the three wars. Rev. J. H. Lambertson then made a short talk. Miss L. Green Struble sang America, after which three rounds were again fired over the graves and taps was blown.

The veterans of the Civil War who were in the line were W. P. Clark, E. Dunn, J. E. Jones, J. R. Dunham, William H. Shaw, L. S. Strickler, Hiram Richter, Adam Swink, I. P. Miller, J. J. Barnhart, Lloyd Johnston, J. R. Baisley, J. G. Pritchard, W. A. Artie, J. E. Hicks, L. W. Wolfe, A. S. Haddock, Clark Collins, L. O. Rush, A. M. Kough, John Robinson, J. S. Reagan, C. H. Whiteley and J. A. Mason.

The following are veterans of the Spanish-American War: John Martin, Harry Wilson, Harry Bishop, Andy and George Calhoun, Dr. L. P. McCormick, Joel Strawn, Mont Goodwin, Edward Smith, Thomas Cunningham, F. B. DeRoche, H. G. Bates, Ernest Trump, H. O. Welker and Ed Nichols.

Among the fighters of the World War in the line of parade were Charles A. McCormick, P. R. Steetz, Robert Dunn, Edgar J. Burke, V. Bert Ritchie, David Randolph, Walter S. Bailer, George McCormick, James A. Darr, Oliver Moser, Walter Rogers, Leroy Berkey, William Hartry, John Kaufman, Dewey Miller, Lloyd Detweiler, George Nichols, John Cuneo, Thomas Dalley, Tweed Stafford and Ira Moon.

The observance of the day in Connellsville was general. Stores and business places being closed. Grocery stores and meat shops maintained Saturday hours last night and are also closed today.

The schools were dismissed after roll call this morning. Most of the students were marched to the library lawn to sing as the procession of veterans passed by and after this short ceremony were free for the day.

CAPTAIN MILLS, A VETERAN OF WEST FRONT, TO LECTURE

Colored Officer Cited for Bravery to Speak Twice at Payne Methodist Church.

Much interest and pride are being centered by the colored people of the city in Captain Harry W. Mills, recently returned from overseas, who is in the city paying a brief visit to his mother, Mrs. Georgiana Burrell. He will speak at the Payne Methodist church on the West Side next Sunday evening and will deliver a formal lecture at the same place the following Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. A. J. Allen, the pastor, says that Captain Mills has a message of inspiration and hope to every member of his race. Captain Mills plans to settle in the South where he feels the negro's greatest opportunities are to be found. He was recently married since his return from overseas to Miss Ora Wilkins of Petersburg, Va., who is accompanying him on his visit.

Captain Mills is a former Connellsville boy and has made a splendid record in the service of his country. He enlisted as a private in the Regular Army in 1912 and has seen service in the Philippines, Hawaii and Mexico. And when the call came in 1917 for the best men in the Regular Army to be recommended for officers' commissions, he was one of the first to be sent to Des Moines, Iowa, to the officers' training school. Three months afterwards he received the officer's commission with the rank of captain.

Captain Mills served overseas in charge of Company F, 355th Infantry, 92nd Division. He was in active service in the Vosges sector, Argonne and Marbache sector. He wears the wound stripes, having received a machine gun wound and having been gassed. He was cited for bravery under fire on November 5, 10 and 11. He was recommended for promotion to the rank of major and would have received this promotion had not the armistice been signed.

BOX LUNCH INSTEAD OF REGULAR DINNER FOR SOLDIER BOYS

This Plan is Adopted by Women Planning for That Feature of the Welcome Celebration.

At a meeting of the dinner committee for the soldiers and sailors homecoming celebration held last night at the Red Cross rooms the ladies decided to serve a substantial box lunch to the soldiers instead of a hot dinner as was heretofore planned at a previous meeting of the committee.

M. B. Pryor, a representative of the central committee, was present and suggested that the change be made and a number of the women were in favor of it.

The central committee also changed the date of the luncheon from Tuesday to military day on Wednesday. The lunch will be packed in sealed cartons and served each soldier at a large booth to be erected at a central part of the city by the central committee, which committee will also bear the expense of the production of the lunch. Hot coffee will be served free with the lunch. Mrs. Ellis B. Burgess presided over the meeting.

Rotter and an information was made before Alderman Fred Munk by Mrs. Rose Livingstone, employed by the Livingstone family, against Evered. It is said that Evered had resided in Cumberland and had been ordered to get the bulldog out of that city.

TRAINMEN PROTEST

Last Wage Decision Not Satisfactory To Brotherhood Trainmen.

By Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., May 30.—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, in session here, adopted a resolution expressing disapproval of the last wage award made by the Railroad Administration. The resolution stipulated certain conditions it should have covered that it did not. A committee was named to take up the matter with the Railroad Administration for immediate adjustment.

The resolution states that the pay does not compensate for the hazards of the work, and insists that the minimum monthly, daily and mileage rates, equivalent to $150 per month, be established.

Continuing the resolution demands some plan to compensate railroad trainmen for time spent away from home, and for the increased cost of living. A reiterated demand for time and a half pay for holidays, Sundays and overtime also was made in the resolution.

28TH ONE OF THE FIVE DIVISIONS OF THE A. E. F. WHICH GERMANS CONSIDERED OUR BEST FIGHTERS

The Guard Gazette, the newspaper published by the Marines at St. Nazaire, France, publishes in a recent number an interview with Major von Rundstedt, who was on the staff of General Ludendorff during the war, in which it is stated that the German high command at Spa, Belgium, having carefully studied the units of the American Army and made a record of the observations, has designated the 28th as one of five divisions considered to be the most efficient.

The observations of the German staff were recorded in huge volumes and intended to be kept as military secrets so that in case of war with America they would know all about our fighters by referring to these records. The reporter who interviewed Major von Rundstedt thus relates how he secured some of the secrets contained in the German records:

"I asked the major what the high command had noted down as regards the most efficient American divisions. While the aide went to get the proper books, the major said he could tell offhand five divisions which the Germans considered among the best. He said: "The division which you call rain-bow in the sky."

"Forty-second," I said.

"Yes, Forty-second. And that division which is made up half of marines."

"Second," I told him.

"Yes, the Second. Also the 28th and the First."

Wireless Message Indicates Plane is Stranded in Mondego River.

TRAVELS ONLY 100 MILES

Cannot Reach England Memorial Day; Machine is All Right, according to Message to Washington; Nature of Trouble Is Not Known Here.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Although she landed at Mondego river, 100 miles north of Lisbon, the American naval seaplane NC 4 is "O. K.," according to a message from Lieutenant Commander A. C. Read received today at the Navy Department telling of the beginning of the flight from Lisbon to England.

There was no information here as to why Commander Read made a landing but officers assumed that the plane's engines were not functioning properly. The plane evidently ran into shallow water in landing or was left so by a receding tide while repairs were being made.

LONDON, May 30.—The following message has been received by wireless from the NC 4:

"Landed on Mondego river. The mouth of the Mondego river is near Pigueira, about 100 miles north of Lisbon, on the Portuguese coast."

Commander Read of the NC 4 sent a further message stating that he could not make Plymouth tonight.

The seaplane was not damaged when she landed.

The wireless message from Lieutenant Commander Read did not give any reason why the NC 4 landed. It said, however, that he must await high tide. He asked the authorities what port he should land at.

BREXIT, May 30.—The following message from the NC 4 has been received here:

"NC 4 at Mondego river. Must await high tide. Seaplane cannot make Plymouth. Request destroyers to keep stations. What is best port to land seaplane within 300 miles?"

The message was signed by Lieutenant Commander Read. It was not timed. It was picked up at 12.30 P. M. by the United States auxiliary ship USS Albatross at Brest harbor. The message was addressed to the commander of Division 14, United States destroyer force.

PLYMOUTH, May 30. (9.32 A. M.)—The United States naval seaplane NC 4 left Lisbon for this port at 5.20 this morning.

BREXIT, May 30.—When the United States plane NC 4 left Lisbon this morning the weather was cloudy. There was a barometric depression over the Bay of Biscay but the weather was clear over the English channel with light southerly breeze.

The NC 4 passed Station A at 8 o'clock this morning and station B at 9.20. She was flying at an altitude of about 2,000 feet in calm, beautiful flying weather.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—At 7.30, Washington time, the Navy Department received a message from the U. S. S. Albatross at Plymouth saying "NC 4 passed Station A but not been sighted by Station B."

BREXIT, May 30.—A message received here, relayed from the torpedo boat destroyer Woolsey at Station C on the route of the NC 4, is interpreted by naval authorities as meaning that the NC 4 developed trouble but effected repairs and resumed her flight.

The skins of all animals for the killing of which a bounty is claimed must be sent to the office of the commission at Harrisburg by the claimant, just as they are now sent when the affidavit is made before a justice of the peace. The skin must not be mutilated and the affidavit must clearly state when as well as where the animal in question was killed. If the claimant hopes to profit by the increased bounty on wildcats and weasels as provided by this bill, Special deputy game protectors are authorized by the act to take affidavits of this character and are entitled to the same fee that a justice could claim for like services, but must supply himself with a proper identifying seal at his own expense. A paid game protector is not entitled to such fee. All individuals in the state authorized to administer oaths can take such affidavits.

Any effort to secure the increased bounty on either a wildcat or a weasel as provided for by this act through the presentation of the skin of an animal killed before June 1, 1919, is punishable by fine and imprisonment, and a false affidavit in this regard is perjury.

NEW STATE BOUNTY LAW WILL BECOME EFFECTIVE JUNE 1

Measure Provides for Payment of $5 for Wildcat, $1 for Mink, $2 for Weasel and Fox.

House bill No. 419 giving the board of game commissioners of the state authority to issue checks direct to claimants for bounty has been signed by the governor and after June 1, 1919, will be the law in this state. Under the provisions of this act a bounty of $5 will be paid for wild cats, $1 for mink and $2 each for foxes and weasels.

A STRAIGHT UP AND DOWN FROCK

A warm pink challis with a tiny white stripe helped most wonderfully to make this frock so clever by running its line stripes this way and that, for contrast. Then there was a grand—a great generous fly-away bow of it, and wide crocheted, lace-trimmed, and an apron-vest, and that is all for such is the simplicity of summer's informal frocks.

PLEA FOR MEMORIAL TREES

Committee Would Have One Planted in Baptist Churchyard as Tribute to Roger Williams.

A memorial tree in every Baptist churchyard in the United States to commemorate establishment of religious freedom and civil liberty is the plan of the Roger Williams National Memorial committee of the District of Columbia. The committee which is in charge of the drive to raise a fund for the erection in Washington of the Roger Williams memorial announced it would ask every congregation in the country to plant a memorial tree.

"The tree stands for life," says a statement from the committee issued at the Washington headquarters, "and as the American Forestry association is urging the planting of memorial trees in honor of the American sailors and soldiers who gave their lives that political freedom should not perish from the earth, so we will ask that trees be planted in honor of Roger Williams, who worked and suffered that religious liberty might be woven into the national fabric of America."

Pacific Blockade.

"Pacific blockade" is a term invented by Hautefeuille, the French writer on international maritime law, to describe a blockade exercised by a great power for the purpose of bringing pressure to bear on a weaker state without actual war. The Pacific blockade has apparently established itself as a legitimate means of coercing a weak power to observe its international obligations without resorting to war for that purpose. It is a modern development and has usually been the act of several powers acting in concert. It was first employed in 1827, when the combined fleets of Great Britain, France and Russia blockaded a portion of the Turkish coast. More recent instances of its exercise were the blockade of Crete by the powers in 1897, the blockade of Venezuelan ports by Great Britain, Germany and Italy in 1902 and of Turkish ports by the powers in 1905.

Phonograph in the Hebrides.

Mrs. Kennedy-Fraser, who has done so much to create interest in Hebridean songs, took a phonograph to the islands, says a writer in Daily Chronicle. This was in order to secure the absolute accuracy of the weird music which is traditional in the Hebrides. The people were so excited by the novelty of singing into the phonograph that they could hardly wait for the record to be played, and then they were amazed at the fidelity with which it rendered the songs and all the trivial sounds of onlookers.

This Pretty Girl Who Defies Age Uses Howard's Buttermilk Cream To Beautify Her Complexion

Tells C. Roy Hazel, Connelville Drug Co. and all good drug and department stores not to take anyone's money unless this delicious new vanishing cream quickly shows a decided improvement. Try it today at our expense.

The first application of Howard's Buttermilk Cream will astonish you. It creates beauty almost like magic. The most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dull, most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough hands or arms snowy white yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least skin or greasiness of the skin.

No matter whether you are troubled with a poor complexion, wrinkles, puffiness around the eyes, freckled, crows feet or lines around the mouth, ugly finger nails, or just a simple roughness of the face, hands or arms caused by wind or sun, you will find that any or all of these troubles will quickly disappear with the use of Howard's Buttermilk Cream.

To prove this to your complete satisfaction, get a small quantity today at C. Roy Hazel, Connelville Drug Co. with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money to any dissatisfied user.

Beautiful actresses say, "A short measure with Buttermilk Cream night before retiring is all that is necessary."

The Bargee

"American soldiers in London" said Gen. Samuel A. Ansell, "take a great deal of interest in the bargees who row enormous canal boats up and down the Thames."

"A soldier stood on the Blackfriars bridge one day watching a bargee row his canal boat, or barge. It was an enormous barge, half a dozen oarsmen could hardly have managed it, but the lone bargee wielded his oars undismayed, and the barge approached the soldier on the bridge at the rate of about an inch a minute."

"The soldier watched the barge a long time, and, when the barge was at last reached he took the cigarette from his mouth and shouted down to the plucky oarsman."

"Well, so long, old timer! Don't forget to bring us a parrot back with you!"

COMPENSATIONS OF THE OLDER

VETERANS.

For the first time in the history of the Grand Army of the Republic it today gave the place of honor in the Memorial Day parade to another organization of former soldiers. This was a concession which has more than passing significance. In the first place it was a tribute of respect by the oldest of our veterans to our youngest; a recognition by the men who won the Civil War of the magnificent valor shown by the men who turned the tide that had set in strong against the Allies, and by timely and efficient aid, helped them win the World War.

In thus turning over to the younger veterans the activities incident to an annual observance of the day the older followers of the flag realize that the infirmities of years and the hurts their bodies bear as marks of the sacrifices they made, are incapacitating them for participation in the sad exercises except as spectators. Their spirit is undimmed, however, and will be until the day when the last survivor of all the grand host that has gone on before answers the last roll call.

As the gray-haired veterans looked upon the hale, alert, stalwart young men who recently faced an inhuman and beastly foe on the fields of France, their minds went back in retrospect to the days when they, in the same ardor of youth, had answered their country's call. Although saddened by the memories the day brought to them, the men in the rapidly blurring ranks of blue were glad to know that the lessons of patriotism and loyalty of their own service in the 60s have been exemplified in so high degree by the soldier boys who since have emulated their example.

These older veterans know, and take comfort and pride in the knowledge, that the traditions which have ever been an inspiration to our country's defenders have been so duly preserved and so signally honored by the boys who went out to fight our enemies in the Spanish-American War and in the World War.

While the day will ever be sacred to the memory of the members of the organization which has so long observed it, and who understand its meaning better than others can now understand it, they have the confident assurance that when they have answered the last summons and the Grand Army of the Republic, as now constituted, has been mustered out forever, there will be left behind those who will take up the tender and loving duty that has been laid down, and perpetuate through generations yet to come the spirit and honor the purpose of Memorial Day.

This thought, and the other that our country will never lack defenders in any crisis that may come in its future

the creation of a constituent assembly, which was the principal condition upon which the Omsk government was recognized, and the favorable reports of his administration of affairs and his courage as a warrior and vision as a statesman, have developed a confidence in him that has not been reposed in any of the leaders who have preceded him. He is proceeding upon the very sound principle that the way to solve the Russian problem is for the patriotic and country-loving Russians themselves to crush or expel the forces of evil and unrest represented by the Bolsheviks. It is apparent that it is approaching the end of its dizzy career, to be completely encompassed by the closing of the ring which is daily pressing harder and harder on this gang of outlaws.

The 110th Band will be one of the big bands of the Home-Coming Celebration.

"Denay" Mickey's racing auto will have to put on a more thrilling stunt than spinning around like a top if it expects its merry driver to lose his head.

There's one consolation about the school tax levy. It can't be any higher.

When the unimproved stretches in the highway between Conneltsville and Fayette City are closed, Pittsburg will have the satisfaction of knowing that it will be on the map.

If the change in the length of the terms of city councilmen from two to four years is a good thing or not will depend altogether on whether good or bad councilmen are chosen.

The settlement of the Flume turns out to be very much unsettled.

In honoring the dead today did you think of the boys who sleep in Flanders' fields?

The Poppies of France.
By Harry D. Medcalf.

With the blossoms of May on Memorial Day.

We honor our heroic dead.
The little flags wave over each grassy grave.
For those who have suffered and bled,
But this year he who goes out in honor of those

Who have died that the world might advance
Will see many a tear shed for heroes of France.
For they sleep 'neath the poppies of France.

Oh! the blood that was drawn in the year that has gone
How our heroic dead have increased
For our boys sailed from home o'er the turbulent foam
To rid the old world of a beast.

And they smashed to the Rhine through the Hindenburg line
To stop them there wasn't a chance.
But with sorrow we learn some will never return
For they sleep 'neath the poppies of France.

Dear old boys in the blue he all honor to you.
For your fighting and courage was fine.
And the boys who whipped Spain they have not fought in vain
'Tis forever their glory will shine.

But the boys in the brown they have, too, won renown
For they ended the Hun's battle dance.
We can never forget that we owe a great debt
To the boys 'neath the poppies of France.

You entered the fray every one in his day
So that men might be happy and free.
You have faced cannon's mouth against men of the south
So that slavery no longer should be.

And that freedom might keep on the isles of the deep
You have broken the tyrant's cruel lance.
But the boys who unfurled freedom's flag for the world
Are the ones 'neath the poppies of France.

Let the little flags wave over each grassy grave
That their spirits in passing may see
That the ones left behind still bear a great debt
That they're loved in the land of the free.

So let all that we say on Memorial Day
Be something that's true and true to the end.
Speak of those in the blue of the bold Jackie too,
Or of those 'neath the poppies of France.

Are the Cowdies So Soon Forgotten?
Waynesburg Democrat-Messenger.

When a Joseph Thompson says he came through the war "without a scratch" he certainly must have forgotten the cowdies.

The honors are about even, whether your job wears out your shoes or your trousers. It sets you back about $15 for replacements in either event.

No Need of Proof.

And There Are Others.

FAITH.

It's raining bitter tears today,
But soon the clouds will pass away,
And out of skies serenely blue
The sun will shine on me and you.
Oh heart that now with care is sad
Be brave and wait the mornings glad.

Beyond the gloom now beauty stays,
Beyond the grief are happy days,
Behind the heavy hours of care
Await the joys that we shall share,
And as the sun shall follow rain
So peace shall find our hearts again.

Oh dark the day and sharp the dread,
And swiftly fall the tears we shed,
Yet out of skies serenely blue
The sun shall shine on me and you.
And we shall tread, when care is o'er,
The happy, laughing ways once more.

SISTER TOLD HER THAT PLANT JUICE SURE HELPED HER

Mrs. Mary Robinson, who lives in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, took Heed to Advice.

Since Plant Juice has been introduced in Pennsylvania, scores of local people have testified to benefits received. Recently the signed statement was received from Mrs. Mary Robinson, who resides at No. 139 Home street, Pittsburg. Mrs. Robinson was born and has lived there all her life. She said:

"I have been a stomach sufferer for the past eight years, which caused terrible headaches. At times they would become so bad that they would last an entire week at a time and I would have to go to bed. Food did not seem to agree with me but fermented in my stomach. My sister, who has suffered similar to myself, had been using your medicine and recommended it to me. It has been a great benefit to both of us. I can truthfully say that I have not had a headache since I commenced its use. My stomach is much better, and I am glad that I am so much improved in my general health. I can cheerfully recommend your medicine to any one suffering from stomach trouble."

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Biotin-Phosphate to Put on First Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft, curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are usually due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as biotin-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by the Connelville Drug Company in Connelville and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, biotin-phosphate quickly produces a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing.

This increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, soon disappear, dull eyes become bright, and pale cheeks glow with the blush of perfect health.

CAUTION.—Although biotin-phosphate is unsurpassed for relieving nervousness, sleeplessness and general weakness, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-growing properties, be used by anyone who does not desire to put on flesh.—Adv.

ORDER SUITS, MAKE DEPOSITS, TOO, BUT GOODS DO NOT COME

Local People Suffer Financial Loss Through Buying From Strangers.

SERVED US RIGHT SAYS ONE

Pittsburg Tailoring Concern's Representative Makes Big Promises of Cutting Prices of Local Merchants and Then Decamps With the Money.

Having been seduced by the blandishments of a traveling representative of the Pittsburg Tailoring Concern, a number of Connelville citizens are now repenting their folly at leisure.

Before Easter, beguiled by promises of "something better for less than some dealers can afford to sell," suit buyers placed their orders and made substantial deposits, and some of these have not yet secured their long looked for apparel and are now wondering whether they have not also lost their money. Letters addressed to the firm remain unanswered, and the representative has disappeared without leaving a forwarding address.

"This experience, painful though it be, is not unusual. When money is entrusted to strangers who attempt to build up business by depreciating reputable home makers," admitted one of the victims, "there is always a very grave chance that it has taken wings. Honest business men do not resort to such piratical methods to gain trade. Not only are the stores of the home merchants complete and substantial, but their prices will be found in comparison to be as low and nearly always lower, than those quoted by dealers of larger cities, for well established business reasons."

"In addition to those advantages in buying at home there is the satisfaction of personal inspection before purchasing and the knowledge that the merchandise should not be as represented your home dealer is always available and ready to make good."

"The Pittsburg concern not only misrepresented its merchandise and prices but it seems that it has resorted to deliberate fraud to aggravate the afflictions of the gullibles who are now mourning the loss of their money."

WETS HOPEFUL OF EARLY VICTORY IN OLD WESTMORELAND

Chances for Moisture and Rejoicing Good, Says Counsel for the Liquor Interests.

GREENSBURG, May 30.—"The chances of moisture and rejoicing in Westmoreland county are good," said Attorney John W. McFadden, representing the "wet" forces of this county upon his return from Philadelphia.

The following order from the Supreme Court was received by Judges A. D. McConnell and D. J. Snyder, this morning:

"Let writ of mandamus issue, returnable June 3, 1919, directed to Alexander G. McConnell and Daniel J. Snyder, Judges of the Court of Quarter Session of Westmoreland county, commanding them to meet forthwith and make a formal order granting or refusing the applicants for licenses referred to in this petition for the writ and upon their disagreement as to any application to mark it refused."

WAR TRUCKS

To Be Distributed for Use on Highways of Pennsylvania.

Over 250 motor trucks will be turned over to the state of Pennsylvania for work in connection with improvement of roads with federal aid within a short time, New York and Texas being the only other states to receive this form of national assistance. In highway improvement, the arrangements for the transfer of the trucks, which are some of the thousands ordered for war service, were completed at Washington this week.

There will be 252 trucks in all. They will be distributed from Harris-

The Symbol of Atlantic Service

Along the road, you pass the familiar Atlantic tank-truck. Daily, this power-house rations the garages and service-stations with Atlantic Gasoline.

For, there must be a plentiful supply of Atlantic Power on tap for the thousands of drivers of trucks and passenger-cars who insist on having this particular motor-fuel in preference to all others.

By means of these tank-trucks, Atlantic Gasoline flows in an unending stream from the big refineries to the distributing points and service stations along the line.

You never have to accept a substitute for Atlantic. There is always enough of the genuine for your needs, whether you have one truck, a fleet of trucks, or an assortment of passenger-cars.

The Atlantic Refining Company has set a standard of service to truck-users and motorists generally. Its own service-stations are designed to help out in the big job of supplying this popular motor-fuel to those who will not accept counterfeits.

Always buy Atlantic Gasoline by name.

CLEAN PARTS WITH KEROSENE

Best Way is to Use Wire Basket and Dip Different Parts in Oil, Letting Dirt Sink.

It is often necessary to clean small parts of the car, and washing in kerosene is the accepted method. The usual practice is to throw such parts in a pail of kerosene and let them lie in the muck which collects at the bottom. A better way is to get a wire basket, which will fit part-way down in the vessel used to hold the kerosene, place the parts in this basket, dip them in the oil and allow the dirt to be loosened and sink to the bottom, while the parts come out perfectly clean and ready for use.

STOP POUNDING OF ENGINES

Trouble May Be Due to Several Causes, Among Others Imperfect Electrical Connection.

If a pound in the engine is regular and continuous, it is likely to be from lost motion in the bearings. If it is irregular and occasional, it is more likely to be due to preignition caused by incandescent carbon or from imperfect electrical connections. If the pounding is accompanied by occasional missing, especially if the missing is more frequent when the car is running than when the engine is idling, it is more apt to be due to imperfect electrical connections.

Naturally, "I know a man who always gives out rates for his work."

DICE of DESTINY

By Jackson Gregory

"No doubt," dryly, from the rancher. "It is all right, Gaucho."

The two cowboys went out. Then pleasantly, insolently Torre admitted to Stanway that he had been responsible for Senor de la Guerra's disappearance, that he knew where he was, and that the captain was his own agent.

"What," asked the rancher curiously, "do you gain from such an admission?"

"Two things, senor. In the first place I am meeting you upon a basis upon which we may be able to come to terms. It seems that you are really the one for me to deal with. In the second place," and the smile in his eyes was hard and cruel enough now, "I am taunting a man whom I do not like. That is a pleasure."

Stanway frowned, not understanding.

"Bring us back the senor and you gain your freedom—your safety if you don't waste too much time getting out of the country," he said.

"You ask a great deal," Torre pulled thoughtfully at his little mustache. "And you offer a very little. For I shall have my freedom and safety—why, senor, at any time I please."

"You refuse my offer?"

"Absolutely."

"Even," went on Stanway coolly, "after your personal danger is augmented by Dempson's confession of complicity?"

For the first time the rancher saw a quick light of fear leap into Torre's eyes. Then the lids dropped a little—a very little, but enough to hide the eyes—and in an instant Torre's manner was again careless, indifferent.

"A random shot that, no?" He lifted his eyes once more, and they were frank and mirthful again. "I am sorry that it does not find a target."

"What will you say when you are confronted with Dempson's written and signed confession?"

"That will never be. I know that he has confessed to nothing."

Stanway leaned forward and tapped his forefinger upon the table between them. "I shall have Dempson's confession within twenty-four hours."

Torre shook his head, smiling his inscrutable smile.

"I have a counter-offer to make," said Torre. "Teresa is to pay to Captain Juarez the money which he demands—twenty thousand dollars. Within twenty-four hours from the time that the money is paid her grandfather will walk into this drawing room unharmed."

"And if she refuses your offer?"

"Then, twenty-four hours after her refusal, her grandfather will be dead. Then I shall be the heir to the entire property. You will accuse me of having murdered him, and I shall deny. It will go to the courts. In the end I shall be cleared. You see, senor, times are fortunately turbulent along the border, and what has happened may so easily be laid at the door of the poor devils of insurgents. You can create suspicion, you can make trouble. But then there is the will, properly drawn and witnessed, and—there is something else!"

"And that?" curiously, wondering how far Torre would go in showing his hand.

"There will be other witnesses of whom you do not guess yet—witnesses carefully selected, who will not be shaken in a point they make. And they will swear that Senor de la Guerra became very angry with his granddaughter upon the very day of his disappearance; that he quarreled openly with her; that he vowed he would disinherit her, and that he sent immediately for his lawyer to make the new will. Do you care, senor, to know what those witnesses will prove to be the cause of the quarrel?"

"Well," asked Stanway.

"It will be that Teresa, heedless of her grandfather's hatred of all Americans, had fallen in love with one of them; that she defied De la Guerra, and swore that she would marry—"

"Why!" gasped the rancher. "It's perjury!"

"Certainly!" The smile merely deepened upon Torre's handsome face. "But let us think not of the legal morality of it but of the effect upon a jury. Who, when this point is made will seem the one who would be desirous of the disappearance of the old gentleman?"

"Who then will appear in the light of the abductor? I leave it to you," sang over a new cigarette. "If the point will not hold."

Stanway's mouth hardened.

He saw that if Torre had made one mistake—if Dempson were in reality what he appeared, a weak tool—yet the young Spaniard had planned painstakingly elsewhere.

"You may mark a certain evening discrepancy," went on the Spaniard. "I suppose the De la Guerra estate is worth a million. And I am asking only twenty thousand dollars to renounce all claim, free the old gentleman, go away and leave you, senor, to pay your court to the heiress!"

He laughed softly at Stanway's quick, angry frown, and continued swiftly:

"It is because I have very urgent need of ten thousand dollars. It would save me from an embarrassing position, senor. You do not guess how embarrassing. And I am very modestly asking merely twice my actual needs."

"True, there is more to gain by sitting the throat of my esteemed kin-man and inheriting the whole. You see, I don't mind speaking frankly, between friends.

"But on the other hand, the danger of which you speak would be much greater—and I need the money now, not after the courts can have had time to haggle over the will for a year or two. So, senor, you have my offer. What do you say?"

"I say," cried Stanway hotly, that you are a scoundrel and I believe only so much of what you say as I judge wise. If Senor de la Guerra dies, why then you go to the hangman—provided Gaucho and his men allow you to go that far. You will save him to save your own neck. Do you also-lutely refuse to accept my proposal?"

"Absolutely. I shall make better terms."

Stanway went to the door. "There is going to be no more making of terms," he said briefly. "I shall talk to you henceforward as I'd talk to a rat in a trap!"

Torre sprang up swiftly, his face flushing darkly, with a rush of angry blood.

"You shall see," he cried harshly, "that even a rat in a trap may have sharp teeth. You fool, it is I who will offer terms—or dictate—at my pleasure!"

He turned away with a short, ugly little shock of positive dread, fear that he was risking too much that he had no right to assume this responsibility. For there was something in Torre's voice which told him that the man was making no idle threat.

MOYER SAYS 'TAS
NEIGHBOR TOLD HER

A. M. Moyer, 312 North Horton street, Philadelphia, speaking for his wife, says that it was through a neighbor that she heard about Tanlae. "She suffered from stomach trouble and belching of gas and had considerable pain and distress. Her appetite was very uncertain and she had a nervous internal condition. She has taken several bottles of Tanlae and found relief from almost the first dose. The gas has stopped forming, and all the disagreeable symptoms have disappeared. Her appetite has become normal and she hardly knows what nerves are now. Tanlae has proved a great thing for her."

The genuine J. L. Gore Co. Tanlae is sold here by Beigley's, Harmering's and Connelleville drug stores and other leading druggists in every community.

GIRL COULDN'T STAND
CLOTHES TO TOUCH HER

"My father got me a bottle of May's Wonderful Kennedy for stomach trouble and I am feeling so much better since taking it. My stomach was so painful I couldn't stand my clothes to touch me. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. A. A. Clarke and druggists everywhere.—Adv.

THE SOISSON.

"OH JOHNNY."—A Goldwyn feature, starring Louis Bresson, as the hero, is a big attraction today. Bresson is a young man, who comes east to visit his ward, Adele Butler, who has been taken up by eastern relatives when they find that she has money. They are merely exploiting the girl to profit by her riches, and when Johnny braces in they find him very much in the way. Even Adele is led to think his manner too pronounced to be acceptable to her new eastern standards, but when he shows her that she is being robbed right and left by her supposed benefactors, her sentiments undergo a change and Johnny goes marching home with his bride upon his arm. The opening scenes are laid in a western mining camp, where the hero has located a rich property known as the Lost Hope Mine. An eastern investor is trying to negotiate for it, but the hero will not deal with him. The production has some excellent comedy touches and some beautiful settings. The hero's attempt to acquire manners from a book of etiquette and his painful efforts later to put them into practice, make a good comic feature. Mr. Bresson is supported by Virginia Lee, who appears as Adele, the heroine, Edward Roseman, Frank Goldsmith and others. A selected comedy is also being shown.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"LEAVE IT TO SUSAN."—A five part Goldwyn production, starring Madge Kennedy, the captivating actress, supported by a cast of unusual excellence, is being shown today. The production is one of the best in which the popular star has ever appeared and is one that her many admirers should not fail to see. It will please all members of the family. Never has Miss Kennedy been provided with a more delightful role. The story is intensely interesting and there is not a dull moment from the beginning to the close of the picture. A selected comedy is also being shown. Both attractions will be shown tomorrow.

Drew a Dummy.

Hostess—I'm sorry you found Miss Riddle a poor conversationalist. Jack—Four conversationalists? She's absolutely the limit. Why the only thing she said to me the entire evening was "no," and I had to propose to her to get her to say that.
